Nail Head Trim

Nailhead trim is a technique that has been used by quality craftspeople for centuries, and though originally used to secure the fabric or leather, today it accents the design lines of your upholstered selection.

- Nailhead trim is an option, except where listed otherwise. Please confirm availability of this option prior to ordering — some frame construction precludes the use of nail trims.
- Staggered placement — All nailhead trim may be ordered with this styling — please specify when ordering.

Nail Head Trim on Carved Chair Frames

When carved frames standard with double welt are ordered in leather, Nail Head Trim and Single Welt replaces standard double welt.

The style of standard Nail Head Trim is determined by the finish selected and is as follows:

Nail Head Trims

Items that are standard with nail head trim are marked accordingly in our Upholstery Catalog. Optional nail head trims are available on most styles covered in fabric or leather. The placement of nails varies on each frame and is dependent on frame construction under the cover. Nails can be "staggered" in application (e.g. -3/4" spacing between nails). Specify your requirements for staggering, otherwise the factory will use its discretion.

Combination Fabrics

To add an extra design flair to your seating, Harden offers a contrasting fabric option on all collections. You may specify throw pillows, multi-pillow backs, or even seat cushions in contrasting fabrics for a stylish statement.

Contrasting Welt

Where welt is standard, contrasting welt may be “special ordered” as follows: Fabric Welt on Fabric, Leather Welt on Fabric, or Leather Welt on Leather.

Decorator Trim

It's all in the detail...and trims. Add an extra decorative touch with colorful fringe around throw pillows, replace standard welt with cording, or add a decorator banded skirt. Many plain and colored trims are available to coordinate beautifully with Harden's nearly 1000 fabrics.

Quilting

For an extra touch of elegance, most fabrics can be outline or diamond quilted.

Arm Covers

Arm covers are provided where appropriate.

Finish

Exposed wood on upholstery can be finished in any of our standard finishes, as well as a wide assortment of standard paints and decorative paint selections. For more information, please refer to the Harden Finish brochure.
